CHRISTOPHE PILLET

Diplomato in Arti Decorative a Nizza nel 1985, Christophe Pillet inizia la propria formazione collaborando con Philippe Starck fino a diventare, nel 1993, un designer indipendente a tutto tondo.

Pillet si distingue occupandosi di progettazione, di design d'arredamento e di architettura d'interni, raccontando, attraverso il proprio lavoro, tutto l'esprit di quella nuova e promettente corrente che è il design francese contemporaneo.

Nominato "Progettista dell'Anno" già nel 1994, Pillet è da considerarsi un designer attento alla scelta dei materiali così come alla scelta delle finiture, attraverso la quali esprime da sempre il concetto di un'eleganza sobria. Con questa sua tipica raffinatezza, Christophe Pillet realizza per Cappellini la poltrona Sunset e la serie di divani e poltrone High Time.

Il gusto e la personalità di Pillet sono evidenti anche nei progetti realizzati in collaborazione con altre aziende quali Lacoste, Edra, Trussardi, Daum, Lancôme, Shiseido e Whirlpool.

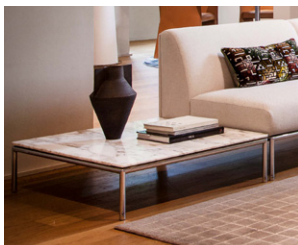

After earning a diploma in Decorative Arts in Nice, in 1985, Christophe Pillet began his professional training by collaborating with Philippe Starck prior to becoming a fully independent designer, in 1993.

Pillet has distinguished himself through his designs, furniture design and interior architecture. His works are an expression of the "esprit" found in the new and very promising wave in contemporary French design.

Already nominated "Designer of the Year" in 1994, Pillet is considered a designer who devotes himself to the choice of materials and finishes, through which he has always expressed solemn elegance. This typical refinement can be found in Christoph Pillet's creations for Cappellini, the Sunset armchair and the High Time sofa and armchair series.

Pillet's taste and personality are also evident in the designs he made in collaboration with other companies, such as Lacoste, Edra, Trussardi, Daum, Lancôme, Shiseido e Whirlpool.
