

OKA TRAY

Oka tray is inspired by traditional Japanese serving trays, often produced in wood or bamboo material. Oka tray challenges the perception and function of the traditional tray, by adding a new material to a well-known form. The tray is cast in solid fiber concrete, adding a certain heaviness to the brutalistic object, while also creating a unique and refined surface texture. With its sculptural and architectural shape, it can be used for various decoration purposes or stand alone to create an art piece.

Hand glazed natural product therefore the colors may variate.
