

GIOVANNI BOTTICELLI

GIOVANNI BOTTICELLI

With an extreme fascination for the delicate and calibrated relationship that exists between light, colour and shape, Giovanni Botticelli has always prioritized these 3 elements in line with his formal study.

The synthesis takes place through the observation point from which the object will be read, observed and touched.

The product is defined from this assumption and whether it is produced in series or in edition, with an industrial or artisanal approach, the three elements of light-color-form are the basis of the design ideas and the project theme.

"I mix and combine formal worlds, processing methods and materials coming from different production areas that have never met before. I cherish delicacy more than anything else because it requires an effort of perception and appreciation."

PERSONALE

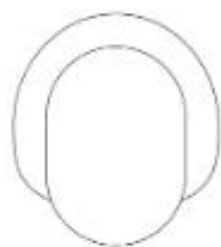

Collection

The Collection juxtaposes coloured matte and coloured reflective glass in stylized lines of male and female faces to leave a sign of our presence on the wall or lend the "personal reflection" to anyone who stops in front of them.
